WORKING PAPERS

Deposit Pricing, Bank Funding Models, and the Incidence of Reserve Requirements

Compares bank-funding gradients across deposit-pricing regimes in China; earlier version presented as Financial Liberalization and the Effectiveness of Reserve Policy.

Urgency, Liquidity, and the Price of Convenience

With Lucas Herrenbrueck and Zijian Wang. Estimates the value of asset convenience while separating marketability from the urgency of spending needs.

Existing Credit, New Credit, and Monetary Transmission

Shows that monetary tightening reprices card borrowing and limits new credit, while authorized credit on existing accounts remains largely unchanged.

Who Gets Protection? Geographic Inequality in Social Protection after Land Expropriation in China

Documents how the geographic gradient in durable protection for land-losing households weakened across expropriation cohorts.

Pensions, Migration, and Three-Generation Family Reorganization

With Yang Li. Examines pension eligibility, grandchild care, migration, and family transfers in rural China.

Strategic Obfuscation against Adaptive Censorship: Equilibrium Blocking and Dynamic Implementability

With Yuqi Hu. Models blocking and costly obfuscation in static and repeated strategic interactions.

WORK IN PROGRESS

State or Type? Revolving Debt and Household Payment Choice

Studies debt state and persistent household preferences in credit-card payment choice.

The Structure and Selective Compression of Central-Bank Information

Studies how PBoC policy information is selected and represented by professional intermediaries.
